CHINA AIRMEN SPREAD PANIC

SHANGHAI, Feb. 12.—The Nationalist government struck from the sky again today in its drive on rebel war lords. Bringing a trail of death behind a squadron of bombers, regime's new army airmen spread panic among machine-gunners under General Sun Tien-yang near Ninghsia, in Kansu province.

Their training bombs and the whistles of their engines set the air was more than the frightened leaders could stand. Recent disorders around Ninghsia will be ended quickly, it was believed.

Moving on Ninghsia last week, forces under the rebel general were reported to have slaughtered 4,000 defenders.

H. H. BROWNLEE

Liberal Leader Delivers Slashing Attack on Present Government—Inefficient and Incompetent Is Claim

In a slashing attack on the administration of Premier J. E. Brownlee and his colleagues of the government, W. R. Howson, M.L.A., leader of the Liberal party in Alberta, today led the critics of the government in the debate on the speech from the throne. The first opponent of the government to take part in the debate he preceded a telling and reasoned criticism by moving an amendment to the resolution before the house in which he called on all private members from whatever section of the legislature to support him in branding the Brownlee administration as inefficient and incompetent.

The amendment left no room for doubt as to the stand of the Liberal leader and his followers.

"We respectfully submit to you this motion that in the opinion of this assembly your government has failed to realize the existing conditions in the province; has failed to initiate a policy to meet the present needs of agriculture, although that department last year expended the sum of $1,072,644.00; has failed to recognize the present welfare of the future interests of the residents on the Lethbridge Northern and the other irrigation projects or to protect the public investment in these enterprises; has failed to properly provide for the future of the settlers in the drought areas; has neglected to arrange a suitable work program for the unemployed; has failed to make use of the public telephone system with a view to give the taxpayer a dollar's worth of work for each dollar expended; has failed to see that adequate relief was given to the needy; has failed to make provision to deal adequately or at all with the Returned Soldier problem; has failed to reasonably extend the duties and credits in the adjustment and settlement of their respective claims; has increased the already heavy burden of taxation; has neglected the provincial telephone system with the result that it is in a most chaotic condition which will result in a loss probably exceeding $1,000,000.00; has permitted enormous waste in Public Works construction; has incurred a public debt out of all proportion to the number of people in the province who must bear the burden."

Two More Pages War Photos Today

Continuing its day by day presentation of Canadian official pictures of the Great War, showing the sons of the Dominion in action, at rest behind the lines and hospital and along the line of communications The Bulletin today publishes two more graphic picture pages of war pictures. They show how towns and cities are laid waste and how the relentless war machine reaches out behind the fighting lines not only even the wounded or the sisters of mercy attending them are safe. They are damning indictment of the futility of war. Look for these pictures daily in The Bulletin. Not other troops or other lands, but Canadians, sons, brothers, husbands and fathers of the people of Canada in a welter of death and destruction which is modern warfare.

Rioter Seized as Paris Battle Rages

BUREAU LAUDS ALBERTA U. EXTENSION

Offers Greater Variety of Services Than Any Such Dept. in Dominion

In a bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from Ottawa great credit is given to the extension of the University of Alberta of its activities which are said to be greater than that of any similar department in the Dominion.

Dealing with Adult Education the bulletin, issued from the federal capital has the following to say:

"The Extension Department of the University of Alberta offers a great variety of services to any other such department in Canada, and they are manifold when the view is taken of the entire population of the province, rural and urban."

COMPREHENSIVE ACTIVITIES

The report of the department may be pursued in detail to grasp the comprehensive nature of its work, but some of the major lines of activity may be summarized. This report to 1932 records 136 lectures and moving picture programs reviewed, with an attendance of 13,817; and 464 radio lectures over the University's own station in addition to programs of music, drama, debates, etc.—the whole amounting to 661 hours of broadcasting.

The department's Travelling Libraries were used in 323 communities. The recorded circulation was 29,238 and a further 12,287 books and pamphlets were sent out from the Open Shelf Library.

HAS CARNegie GRANT

"A special grant of $10,000 a year for three years from the Carnegie Corporation enabled the department to offer a new service in the fine arts: music, drama and art. An instructor in dramatics was appointed, and in six months she assisted 27 communities in the choice and production of plays, making one to four visits to each."

"Under the direction of a committee of three, art exhibitions were arranged in 48 towns and villages. The greater part of the money available for the encouragement of rural musical festivals, of which some 30 are held in different parts of the province.

The Quarterly Press Bulletin, Annual Public Relations, University week for farm young people, and the Departments exhibit at the Edmonton Fair, are some others of its manifold activities."

EIGHTY TONS GOLD SHIPPED IN EIGHT DAYS

U.S. Dollar Slipped as Gold Flood Went to America

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The ton has temporarily superseded the pound and the dollar as the unit of shipment in the wholesale gold movement to the United States.

Eighty tons have been shipped from Southampton alone during the last eight days, and since President Roosevelt proclaimed the new gold price, the strongrooms of 30 west-bound trans-Atlantic liners have been filled with the yellow metal at various British and continental ports.

Shipment Saturday from four ports in England and France were valued at approximately $22,000,000. As the rush of gold to New York continued, the United States dollar slipped on several principal exchanges. In London it closed at $3.00, one cent lower to the pound than Friday. In Paris the dollar fell five centimes to close at 13.45 francs (64 cent of the franc).

It was estimated here that six of the largest ships which left various ports during the last 10 days carried gold cargoes valued at about $24,000,000 (approximately $120,000,000).

One authority estimated that 54 ships have been or shortly will be involved in the vast mass movement of the precious metal.

Amiable Amy Has Relative

MONSTER SEEN FROM MAURETANIA

Disporting in Caribbean

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—While "Amiable Amy" reportedly heads northward from its usual haunts around Victoria, B.C., another sea serpent "60 feet long and six feet broad" is reported to be disporting in the Caribbean sea. There's an entry in the log of the liner Mauretania to prove it.

Senior first officer S. W. Moughtin admitted he made the entry in the log under the date of Jan. 30. It read simply: "Sighted sea serpent about 12.30 p.m."

Beside the entry Moughtin drew a sketch of the monster which was also seen by senior third officer J. W. Cauney.

"It was a fine clear afternoon," he said. "At first I thought it was a whale or a whaling grampus, thrusting its head up into the air to catch flying fish on the wing, but I soon saw it was too large. The head of the monster was about six feet out of the water and was fully two feet across."

"About 45 feet of the body, which had a six-foot beam, could be seen in curves on the surface of the sea, and, judging by the commotion caused by the tail moving to and fro there was another 25 feet below. Its color was a shiny jet black."

The Sound and the Fury Leave Only Desolation!

THE SALIENT WAS HELL!—These are the ruins of Ypres, known to most Canadians only by night as they passed through into the terrible salient, around which cluster more of the legends, glorious and grim, than attach to any other single spot in all the war. The Cloth Hall and the cathedral, dating back to the middle ages, were patiently pounded to dust by the German gunners who knew that amidst these Gothic memories hid usually the best regiments of the British Empire.

CAMBRAI KEEPS FALLING!—The Romans built Cambrai two thousand years ago as a fort on the edge of their empire. The Norsemen destroyed it and rebuilt it. Charlemagne wiped it out and rebuilt it. Charles the Great smashed it to splinters and rebuilt it. The Duke of Wellington captured it and used it as his headquarters. And then here we have the Canadians, in October, 1918, entering the ancient embattled city which the Germans abandoned in flames.

THE BATTLE'S O'ER—Motion pictures have given the world the mental picture of a battlefield crowded with action and movement. But here is Vimy. Probably ten thousand men are somewhere in that distant, desolate field. Yet all you can see, or ever could see, were forlorn little parties carrying stretchers, and German prisoners hurrying dutifully toward the rear.

TENDER HEARTED SISTERS—Down at Etaples, by the sea, in May, 1918, the German fleets came at night, in big Gothas, and bombed the hospitals and killed three nurses and seventeen patients and they all occupy this one long grave. Gentle hearted women heard the throbbing hum of Gothas night after night, in that ghastly month, but they carried on. And stood like soldiers at the graveside of their women comrades.

The Tumult and the Shouting Dies---Amiens, 1918

SOUVENIRS!—The sergeant is seeing what the Heinie has in the way of souvenirs. The one leaning on the parapet has apparently a souvenir for life.

ETERNAL PEACE AND WAR—A French peace-time cemetery near the city of Lens, out in front of Vimy, wrecked by German shells. No peace for the living or the dead.

TEMPORARY DRESSINGS—A bayonet scabbard and entrenching tool handle used as splints on this Canadian's smashed arm.

THE LAST HUNDRED DAYS BEGIN—Hangard, which two or three hours before was in the Germans' hands, is already the headquarters of the 10th Canadian Field Ambulance, and the wounded are being gathered here for their painful journey "down the long, long trail awinding to the land of their dreams."

SHOT DOWN IN FLAMES—The records do not say whether this was a British or a German aeroplane that lies blazing on the ground amidst the Canadian advance from Arras to Cambrai, September, 1918. The troops are gathered around something lying on the ground which they snatched from the flaming wreck. By their attitudes, one might guess they were too late.

THE CREST OF VIMY—Looking down one of the big German communication trenches into the plain of Lens, Avion, Mesicourt, Oppy. German defenders of the Ridge who fell on April 9, 1917.
